Bradley Ashton ~ A History of the Blues

Thursday, February 05, 2026 1:00 PM at Senior Box Office

The Blues have played a significant role in the foundation of most American musical genres including jazz, rock and roll, R&B, Soul, Country, and Bluegrass. The evolution of the Blues can be traced to the late 19th century and early 20th century African American musical and cultural traditions. They incorporated elements of European musical structures and African rhythms. Importantly, Blues is the soundtrack of African American History including the end of Reconstruction, The Great Black Migration, and the Modern Civil Rights and Long Civil Rights Struggles. Baltimore historian, Bradley Alston, will provide a comprehensive overview of the exciting "History of the Blues". He is a consultant with the Baltimore National Heritage Area and a board member of the Baltimore City Historical Society. He is also an award-winning Baltimore history tour guide.
